If you are applying for a Golf Australia Handicap for the first time, you will be required to submit 3 x 18-hole scores (or 6 x9-hole scores, or a combination of the two), as per the instructions on the enclosed form. For the purpose of returning one of the initial 3 rounds, players are allocated a Temporary Daily Handicap of 45 for women and 36 for men. The Temporary Daily Handicap is not intended to enable the player to win prizes in a club competition. The Temporary Daily Handicap enables the player to know how many strokes they receive on each hole. Please note that the handicapping score must be in Stableford points. The GOLF Link record will not display the temporary handicap for a player's initial rounds, nor will it display the number of Stableford points that the player made off the Temporary Daily Handicap. The GOLF Link record will only display the 'Played To' value for a player's initial rounds. Just enquire at any recognised golf course for assistance in having your score cards authorised, and take your iGolf Queensland membership card with you when you play. A score card must be signed by an approved marker which is someone that presently holds a Golf Australia Handicap or is a member of iGolf Queensland.

If you don't already know someone that is an approved marker, a staff person at St Lucia Golf Links, Victoria Park, The Queensland Cricketers Club or The Tour Fore Golfers may be able to assist in ensuring that you are paired up with an approved marker. Please make sure that you mention this request to each facilitator when booking your round.

In addition to the marker signing the score card they must also include their personal Golf Link number or iGolf Queensland membership number and mobile number on each scorecard. Each scorecard must then be submitted with this form via post/fax or email.
